“ Eric R Haines was my Dad, I didn't know him for that long probably only 4 years but he still was my idol. I miss him everyday and I wish I could've talked to him more. Me and him have the same exact initials, to honor him I will never change my name even if I marry, I will name one of my kids after him, and I will try and keep in contact with my step mom and step sisters. Even though I haven't seen them in years I hope that they don't hate me, even if they do, I still love them. After Dad passed I almost followed the same fate as him, what led to this was also from my ex step-dad he said this right after he said he wanted to adopt me "Your dad committed suicide because of you and that you never deserved a father". I look back on that moment and say to myself "my dad lived a short but amazing life, he had a beautiful wife and children. He suffered so much from his mental health but know he is finally at rest in heaven. May his soul be happy and full of pride for his service,
EH.

“ My favorite part about knowing my brother in just the short period of time was the training he was teaching me , I'm gonna miss the the smacks to the back of my head when I messed up he was a great teacher, my heart hurts but he was the best friend I finally had and I will always and forever have him in my heart and will continue with my training that he has taught me , I'm gonna miss are clowning around and the jokes we had and how we would pick on each other for fun, just his presents was calm and soothing and the way he would explain things that made total sense, we clicked the very first day we met and were inseparable except when we had to work lol I LOVE YOU ERIC ROBERT HAINES I WILL SEE AGAIN SIR

“ The minute I met Eric was the minute I was attached and intrigued by his presence.If he was talking.. he was teaching. He was reluctant and first but in such a short time he shared stories. His Doe eyes and infectious laughter got me hooked instantly.Seeing the way he looked at his beautiful wife and daughters and his patience warmed my heart. I never could have been guessed the pain he was feeling through his radiance. The deep pain and sorrow of his absence is in our blood and our breath. But We feel you brother. And we hear you louder than ever. I give you my word.... WE GIVE YOU OUR WORD..... We WILL take care of your family. You punched out your last duty but we will ALWAYS BE ON WATCH. Rest easy my friend.❤️❤️
